When it comes to education, Lampton Parkside is top of the class.

There is an excellent choice of primary and secondary schools in the local area, many with an OFSTED rating of Good or Outstanding. The independent sector is well represented too, with a good range of options for children aged three to 18.

For older students, many leading universities are within easy reach of Lampton Parkside. World-renowned institutes such as UCL and Imperial College London are just a tube ride away, while further education colleges such as West Thames College are even closer to hand.
